CURBSIDE COLLECTION INPUT WANTED

The RDN is currently exploring options for curbside collection and is seeking resident's feedback. We are engaging with the community about the preferred method of collection for waste, recycling and organics. This is also an excellent opportunity for all of us to look at the amount of waste we generate at a household level and collectively work together to divert as much waste as possible to achieve 90% diversion by 2028.

HAVE YOUR SAY!

The consultation process runs between August to September 2018, and will include an online survey and focus group opportunities.

Your feedback will be used to help influence the future of curbside collection at the RDN.

2018 WATER MONITORING HAS BEGUN

Visit a local waterway this summer and with luck you'll see streamkeepers taking surface water quality samples as part of the RDN's Community Watershed Monitoring Network (CWMN).

Comprised of 13 volunteer groups from Deep Bay to Cedar-Yellow Point, the CWMN includes a total of 62 monitoring sites in 22 watersheds.

With the dedication of volunteer stewards and the support of key stakeholders the program, which started in 2011, has been a continued success!
